

43 AMOG

MISSION BRIEF

HC- Religious Affairs

Mission:

Honing spiritually ready Airmen to project Joint power

Vision:

Always spiritually ready for the high-end fight

Priorities:

Develop spiritually fit Airmen and Families, Inspire Readiness, Engage the Total Force Creatively and Intentionally

Who we are: We are the foundation for the CAF pillar of spiritual fitness. We develop spiritually ready Airmen capable of performing in the high end fight, and we are the only agency in the DoD that provides 100% confidential counseling. We provide for the religious needs of all Airmen and their families.

What we do: We engage, at all levels, with the Airmen who make up the 43d AMOG to develop relationships and provide comfort, support and guidance. We care for the living, honor the dead, and hone the warrior spirit.

Who we support:

We work directly for the 43 AMOG/CC to ensure the 43 AMOG is spiritually fit to fight - all eight squadrons and 18 agencies. Mission success relies on cross-functional relationships with both helping agencies and joint partners.

How we tie into the greater mission:

If you are not healthy spiritually, you are not fit to fight. We enable mission accomplishment through developing spiritual fitness in relationships, coping skills, supporting religious freedom and helping Airmen identify and hold fast to their values, beliefs, and principles.

Our accomplishments:

We have established battle rhythm and have ongoing and fruitful engagement with personnel across 43d. We are consistently running successful spiritual resiliency events, and have rooted HC as a go-to helping agency.

Our challenges:

Manpower and history of inconsistent religious support teams. Integrating with larger mission in operational capacity, while fulfilling Wing Chaplain equivalent responsibilities.

WHERE WE ARE GOING...

We will continue to provide premiere spiritual care to 43d Air Mobility Operations Group warriors and mission partners. We will innovate new ways to hone spiritual fitness to ready the force for the high-end fight. We will enable evolving mission sets through resilient Airmen.
